Fold Outs and Stand Ups Rule!

Rubber art stamping has always encouraged three dimensional projects and pop up cards have always played an important part. They can be as simple as a butterfly on a spring made of fine wire or the multi-layered surprises that make flowers grow out of a vase.

Now we can add "Stand-ups" and "Fold-Outs" to that group of unruly but adventurous handmade cards.

Engla's latest Halloween creation is a smashing example of a "fold out" card that makes a whole scene come to life, such as bats and ghosts flying in mid-air, while it sits comfortably as a decoration. Amazingly, it folds up to easily be mailed in an ordinary envelope.

Another Engla creation that defies explanation is her beautiful "stand-up" rose card. Just untie the ribbon that appears to be tied around the stem of the rose, open wide and feast your eyes on a three-dimensional, miniature floral art gallery. Add a porcelain button flower or two and a tiny lady bug and you have created a masterpiece.

Hot Tips from the Art Department!

CHOOSING COLORS

#1. Choosing color schemes seems to perplex many stampers. For the most part it simply involves spreading out your colors of papers and pulling out the colors that seem to "fight" with the others. Shuffle, mix, spread and separate... soon your eye will say to you "this feels good"! Engla would say "It will make you happy!" She is right. Suddenly you will just "feel" what works.

#2 Another option is to look at greeting cards, magazines or your favorite blouse and simply copy color schemes that are appealing to "your" eye. You will be amazed by how doing that will help you to learn what works and what doesn't. This will help you gain confidence and soon you will become your own color expert.

#3 And remember...in today's "anything goes" world it is quite acceptable to take chances, be adventurous and create something quite unexpected. Give yourself permission to play around with color with scraps of paper and paint. Save them as a "go to" resource when you are creating a final project.
